DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

How a Crooked Faro Dealer Was Hoist
With His Own Petard.

"I had a curious experience when I first struck Seattle," said a well known gambler. "I had been playing pretty lucky down in Denver and up in the Cripple Creek country and came up to the sound by way of Portland. Don't know why I came, but just came. I didn't find any of the boys whom I knew, but soon got acquainted and was moving around having a good time, but not playing any. I had a good deal of money and was enjoying a few days of lisured. One day I sat down to a faro layout and was keeping cases myself. I didn't know the dealer from Adam's orphan and didn't pay much attention to the game. I was simply chipping along waiting for the cases, keeping about even, and seldom making more than one bet at the start of a deal.

"After awhile my attention was called to one player. In fact, about all of them had dropped out but us two, and as I was noticing my own play only enough to see that my own bets were promptly paid I had to notice him. He seemed to have plenty of money and was dropping a good deal of it on the high card.

"Now, there are a good many things about a faro box that every one is not on to, but with a fellow who makes his bread and butter on the green cloth, as I have for years, it's an old acquaintance. I own a little one that I got from Gifford down in San Diego a year ago, and I practice with it occasionally up in my room, when I haven't anything else to do and nothing particular to think about.

"When I noticed the fellow lose his money, I turned my attention to the dealer. The man with the money must have been greener than the cloth in front of him, for he didn't tumble to the dealer, who was working very raw. He was putting up more than half the deck for the high card to lose. He did not pay a bit of attention to me, so I did to him. I have a pretty good memory, because I need it in my business. It was no trouble for me to watch him shuffle and remember eight or ten turns from the top, and of course I could catch the last turn. He was just putting up for the other fellow and thought I was just playing a lucky, for I didn't play many cards open, but had my chips leading over from some out of the way card to the card I knew was going to win the deal, and was, of course, apparently as much surprised as the dealer when it was seen my chips led right.

"The dealer was busy and was accomplishing what he was striving for. I was busy, too, and equally successful. The result was that in two or three deals the moneyed gentleman had dropped close to $1,000, while I was fully that much to the good, and the dealer was apparently not noticing that his hard work was accomplishing very little toward increasing the bank roll.

"About that time Rickabaugh of Los Angeles walked into the room, and stopping near me in surprise said: 'Hello, Lem, what are you doing in this country? Thought you'd come into mines in Colorado and quit faro.' I looked up and was of course surprised to see him, but I knew the little game in which I was not taking much interest was up.

"The dealer looked at me a moment and said: 'Say, Rick, do you know this gentleman? He has been playing mighty lucky.'

"Rickabaugh glanced at the great stack of chips in front of me and sarcastically remarked, 'Lucky, h—!' 'The dealer looked solid, and at the end of the deal quietly turned down the box and cashed the chips.

"Of course I didn't have the heart to call his last turn, though I knew it from the time the cards were boxed."—Seattle Press-Times.

Nelson's Nightmare.
Not long after the battle of the Nile Nelson invited Dr. Burney to stay with him at his house in Merton. Dr. Burney was both a composer of music and a writer of books on musical subjects and was on terms of friendship with all the great men of the day.

Having forgotten to bring a night-cap with him, he borrowed one of Nelson's. Before going to bed he put on the cap and sat down to read, as was his habit, but was soon surprised to find the cap in flames. These he put out at once, and then gathering the remains sent them to Nelson with these lines:

Take your nightmare again, my good lord, I desire.
I would not retain it a minute.
What belongs to Nelson wherever there's fire
is sure to be instantly in it.

The Gospel.

HAD A COWBOY AUDIENCE.

A Performance After the Show Was Over
That Won Their Hearts.

"I was down in Texas some years ago," said John Turner, the banjoist, recently, "and I want to tell you that I had the liveliest as well as the most pleasing experience in my life. I forget the name of the town we played at, but I know we made a jump from that to Fort Worth.

"Well, we gave a show to the toughest audience I ever struck—all rowboys, and the wildest kind. I came on to do my turn. I started in to play a march, when a big fellow in one of the front seats stood up and yelled:

"Here, that don't go! Play us a jig!"

"The rest of the house began yelling 'Jig! jig! jig!' until they were all at it and you couldn't hear yourself talk. When they quieted down, I asked it up in good shape, and it seemed to hit 'em pretty hard, for when I started in to play another tune, the same big fellow stood up and yelled:

"Play that over again!"

"I played it 10 times before I got away from them. That wasn't the end of it either. After the show we were told to catch the 3 o'clock train for Fort Worth. My side partner, good old Tom McQueen, and myself started from the theater about 11:30 o'clock for the depot, and incidentally we thought we would get a drink on the way. We dropped into a place where there was a gang drinking and walked quietly up to the bar.

"Give me a little whisky," says I to the bartender.

"Set 'em up for the boys!" broke in a voice behind me.

"It was the big fellow who yelled at the theater.

"Don't have so much to say," put in Tom, who was rather hasty.

"Say, you're the fellow that sung that song at the show, ain't you?" asked the big fellow.

"Yes, I am, and I never sang before such a mob in my life," said Tom.

"Well, mister, I ain't a rich man, but I've got a $5 shiner in my pocket for you if you'll sing that song again."

"I'll sing you another," said Tom, and without another word he began 'Home, Sweet Home.' Talk about a time! Why, every one of those big fellows was crying and sniveling around as if their hearts were breaking and I don't know but what I shed a couple of tears myself. Tom sang it out of sight anyway. Why, even the bartender was wiping his eyes with his shirt sleeve. As soon as Tom was through the bartender began putting bottles and glasses on the bar.

"Anything you want, gents. You can have anything in the house. Everybody wanted to treat. The big fellow insisted on buying us a couple of bottles of whisky each. Then he caught sight of my banjo, and I had to play that old jig over about 15 times. It was getting near train time, and we had to make a break. Everybody in the saloon went to the depot with us, even the bartender, who looked the place up. You never heard such a mob of yelling Indians in your life. We got on the train all right, and as he pulled out the big fellow yelled:

"Ha, you singer, and the man with the banjo! come back some time! You can have the town. Whoop!"—New York Herald.

Dut on a Gamin.

Richard was a regular gamin. His keen sense of humor, his ready wit, were always present. He adored the shock of dense people and seeing their faces grow cold and belief, and never cared about what harm it would do him in a worldly sense. I have frequently sat at a dinner table of such people praying him by signs not to go on, but he was in a very ecstasy of gloe. He said it was so funny always to be believed when you were chaffing, and so curious never to be believed when you were telling the truth. He had a sort of schoolboy bravado about these things that in his high spirits lasted him all the 70 years of his life. "Life of Sir Richard Barton."

How Solomon Built the Temple.

Vast galleries and lofty piers beneath the present surface of the site of the temple at Jerusalem show how, in accordance with the description of Josephus, the level of the highest part of the mountain was carried on toward the south and east by colossal masonry, the original work and design of Solomon having been augmented by later additions, more especially by those of the magnificent Herod, shortly before the Christian era. The southern wall of this terrace mountain reached a sheer height of 150 feet.—

sues.

"Hello, central," he called the other day, "this is the second time I have called you. Have you been asleep?"

I thought I heard a voice from the infernal regions and awoke just in time to hear you calling. What num-

AT THE THROTTLE.

The Engineer Whose Steady Hand Controls
the Mighty Locomotive.

Meantime, what is the engineer of the fastest train in the world doing for the passenger? Sixty, 70, 80 miles an hour—what does this mean to the man at the throttle? It means that the 6 feet drivers turn five times
every second and advance 100 feet.

The engineer turns his head for five seconds to look at the gauges,
and in that time the terrible iron creature, putting forth the strength of a thousand horses, may have shot past a red signal with its danger warning, 500 feet away. Ten seconds and 1,000 feet are left behind—one-fifth of a mile. Who knows what horrors may lie within that thousand feet? There may be death lurking around a curve, death spreading its arms in a tunnel, and the engineer must see and be responsible for everything. Not only must he note instantly all that is before him, but he must act at the same moment, working throttle, airbrakes or reversing lever not as quick as thought, but quicker, for there is no time to think.
His muscles must do the right thing automatically under circumstances
where a second is an age.

In the three hours of his vigil there are 10,800 seconds, during each one of which he must watch with the mental alertness of an athlete springing from a flying trapeze from the roof of an amphitheater, with the courageous self possession of a matador awaiting the deadly rush of a maddened bull, and far more depends on the engineer's watching well, because if he fails by a hair's breadth in coolness or precision of judgment there may come destruction, not only to himself, but to hundreds of passengers, who, while he stands guard, are perhaps grumbling at the waiter in the dining car or telling funny stories
in the smoker.—McClure's Magazine.

How the Bee Sees.

We are so used to regarding the world around us from the standpoint of our own sight that it is hard to realize that to other creatures, far out-numbering us and perhaps quite as important in the economy of nature, it must look quite different. The honey bee, for example, is supplied with a pair of compound eyes with hundreds of facets, each capable of sight by itself, and several ocelli, or little, simple eyes, more closely allied to our own. How these eyes are used, what are their separate functions, what sort of images they can present to their owners, all remain questions as interesting and well high unsolved as they were before the days of our powerful microscopes.
Notwithstanding the fact that hundreds of entomologists have been and are interested in this subject, we yet are only at the stage where we can affirm that the honey bee sees a very different flower from the one in which we observe her in search for sweets, although of what that difference is
and how it is produced we can form
but little idea.—Nature.

Washing the Month.

If people would wash out their mouths twice or three times a day with an antiseptic solution, there would not be near so much sickness.
In the last 10 years I have never had a cold, sore throat or fever, and I ascribe this immunity solely to the fact that I follow this plan rigidly. There are any number of proprietary antiseptics that are excellent for this purpose, but many more simple agents that are as good or better. One of the best of the latter is carbolic acid.
A very weak solution of this gargled
and held in the mouth two or three times a day will work wonders. Immediately after using, one will find that the mouth feels cleaner. I believe that a great majority of the common throat and lung troubles
come from the lodgment of disease microbes within the mucous membranes of the month. The free use of antiseptics will kill these germs.—
St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Made Him Low Spirited.

Near to where we live in Scotland
there is a farmer who has had considerable experience in wives. He has married and buried four. After the death of the last wife a friend of ours walked over one Sunday afternoon to see and console with the poor man, who, report said, had been an exceedingly kind and indulgent husband to all his wives. He found the farmer walking listlessly about his deserted garden, and sympathy having unchained his tongue he exclaimed: "Aye, aye! What with bringing the wives home and pitting
them awa I am sair hadden down" (low spirited).—London Gentlewoman.

An Accommodating Guest.

A married couple, being invited to a friend's house to dinner, commence quarrelling with each other as soon as they are seated at the table.
Their host ventures to remark that such conduct is somewhat unseemly,
whereupon the husband retorts,
"When you invited us, you said that you hoped we would feel quite at home, and we certainly do not intend to disappoint you."—Paris Figaro.

SONOMA, FEB. 17, 1894.

S. H. GRANVILLE. EDITOR.
THE SUPERVISORS.They Donate $1000 to the Mid-winter Fair—Other Business Transacted.

Thursday the petition in the Kidd Creek school district was denied on motion by Mr. Hall.

The bill of Supervisor Joost as Road Commissioner of Stewart's Point district for $114.12 was allowed.

A. E. Yates of Russian River township was employed as county farmer, to hold office at the pleasure of the Board, salary to be $500 per year payable monthly.

All bids to furnish blank books for the year 1894 were rejected.

On motion of Supervisor Joost the following price list was established for blank books furnished Sonoma county for the year 1894: Assessment roll, per book, $15; delinquent assessment rolls, $16; two index books, $7.50; assessor's field book, $65; delinquent tax books, $8; deed books, 640 pages each, $9; mortgage record books each, $9; register of action, $10; probate register, $10; minute books each, $9; judgment book, $9; court calendar, $10; license book, $13; deed and mortgage index book, $11; ledgers for County Superintendent, $11; register of requisitions for County Superintendent, $10; same for Auditor, $10; Sheriff's record and fee book, $13; jail registers, each, $11; Auditor's fee book, Recorder, $9; Clerk's fee book, Recorder, $9; book of tax sales, Recorder, $9; record of marriage license, Recorder, $13.

The contract for furnishing stationery for the county officers was awarded to C. A. Wright & Co., according to the terms of their bid. The proposition of John McQuade to grant Sonoma county a right-of-way as described in the viewers' report in the matter of a road asked for by A. Fitzpatrick and others was accepted and $100 was ordered paid to McQuade when a deed was made out.

The Board favorably considered Prof. J. S. Austin's remonstrance against having a liquor license granted to C. J. Porter near the P. M. College and the Sheriff was requested not to issue the license.

Friday the petition of tax payers for the formation of the new Cherry Creek school district was granted. On motion of Supervisor Hall the former order of the Board appropriating, conditionally, $1,000 for Sonoma county's Midwinter Fair display, was rescinded and the sum of $1,000 was appropriated outright for the aid of the exhibit, the funds to be placed in the hands of the Executive Committee. Hall, Joost and Thompson voted aye; Sales and Mead no.

The petition to have the boundary of the Kenwood school district changed was denied.

The petition for the formation of Cotati school district was also denied.

The petition for the formation of Columbian district was also denied. The same course was taken in the petition for the formation of Merritt school district.

Leave was granted to the Cotati Company to withdraw its offer to give $1,000 in behalf of the proposed new road in Santa Rosa and Penn's Grove district.

The Board then adjourned to visit the County Hospital.

SATURDAY, February 10th. The petition from tax payers of Knight's Valley for a bridge across Maycamus creek was postponed for consideration until the March meeting.

On motion of Mr. Joost the chair appointed all the members of the Board, including himself, a committee to visit and inspect roads and bridges in Freestone road district.

On motion of Mr. Mead the Clerk was authorized to purchase the necessary California Reports and to complete the same up to date for the use of the Superior Court departments.

Supervisors Hall and Thompson were appointed a committee to visit the County Farm and instruct the farmer during the absence of the Board.

The contract for furnishing drugs to the County Hospital was awarded to M. H. Dignan.

MONDAY, February 12th. On motion of Supervisor Thompson the contract for supplying drugs to the county was let to M. H. Dignan.

On motion of Supervisor Joost the contract for constructing the proposed road toward Napa county was let to H. S. Williams for $650, his bid being the lowest.

C. Jones was the other bidder and his offer was $760.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the Board adjourned until March 5th.

I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success, and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I was in the case of myself and wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. I was recommended to me. My case had been so long that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and general health greatly improved. I soon gained twenty pounds. All this occurred after I had used Dr. Miles' Nervine. I am now a healthy man. I am now a healthy man. I am now a healthy man.

CURED. I am now a healthy man. I am now a healthy man. I am now a healthy man.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, J. F. CLEGG & CO., Toledo, O. Mrs. Judge Peck Tells How She Was Cured

Sufferers from Dyspepsia should read the following letter from Mrs. H. M. Peck, wife of Judge Peck, a Justice at Tracy, Cal., and a writer connected with the Associated Press: "By a deep sense of gratitude for the great benefit I have received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I have been led to write the following statement for the benefit of sufferers who may be similarly afflicted. For 15 years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and heart trouble."

Almost everything I ate would distress me. I tried different treatments and medicines, but failed to realize relief. Two years ago a friend prevailed upon me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle I noticed helped me, so I continued taking it. It did me so much good that my friends spoke of the improvement. I have received such great benefit from it that I can heartily recommend it.

I now have an excellent appetite and nothing I eat ever distresses me. It also keeps up my flesh and strength. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla too much." Mrs. H. M. Peck, Tracy, California. Get HOOD'S.

Card of Thanks. Good deeds toward the suffering are worthy of recognition, and the sad heart most keenly appreciates the kindly aid of those who prove to be friends in the time of need. We, therefore, desire to express our heartfelt thanks to those of our friends who watched with us in our time of bereavement. To each and all we tender sincere gratitude, and for them may Heaven double its blessings.

The San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company will run excursions to San Francisco from time to time during the progress of the Midwinter Fair. This will be a great convenience to the residents of this valley, as almost every one will want to visit the great Fair at least once or twice, it being so near and can be reached so cheaply from stations in this valley.

Will P. Pixley has commenced suit in Justice Cheney's Court against Louis Waser to recover the sum of $72, alleged to be due on a note executed on the 20th day of September, 1892. Defendant Waser, through his attorney Judge Brietenbach, makes answer that he never executed such a note and that his signature to the same is a forgery. The case promises to be an interesting one. The day for the trial of the case has not yet been set.

"A Tale of Two Oceans," is the name of one of the latest California literary productions. The author of the book is Mr. E. I. Barra of San Francisco, a California pioneer who came to this State around the Horn in 1849. The story, which is well written, is an interesting one and will be read with great pleasure by old Californians and their sons and daughters. The publication can be had by applying at any of the principal book stores in San Francisco.

The weather the past six weeks has been such that plowing and pruning has been greatly retarded in this valley. At the present time the ground is soaking wet and has been so for several weeks, and there is hardly an orchard or vineyard in Sonoma Valley that has been plowed. What is wanted now is a few weeks of dry weather. The fruit outlook was never better at this season of the year and a heavy crop is assured.

The Union Hotel is a resort for families visiting Sonoma.

A WRECKED MIND.

Mrs. L. Weise Goes Suddenly Insane.

She Jumps Out of a Window and Breaks a Leg—Freaks of a Mind Diseased.

Mrs. Lisette Weise of Glen Ellen went to San Francisco one day last week and registered at the Chicago Hotel, kept by Mr. Henry Raschen, formerly of this place. The woman had been acting queer and complaining of not feeling well for some time and she was advised to go to the city in hopes that a change of surroundings would prove beneficial. She grew worse, however, and a day or two after her arrival she became violently insane.

At night she disturbed the rest of the other guests of the hotel by shrieking and screaming.

On Saturday morning last she went to the clerk of the hotel and informed him that Frank Luttrell had committed suicide and that she had killed Harry Weise, her stepson, both of whom reside in Santa Rosa. She then went to an up town undertaking establishment and ordered two coffins and made preparations for a double funeral.

Landlord Raschen had his breath nearly taken away when shortly after the undertaker's assistants drove up to the hotel with the dead wagon to cart the remains away.

As the woman was evidently insane it was decided to have her taken before the Commissioners of Lunacy. Pending her examination she was placed temporarily in the German Hospital, where she became more violent than ever, and breaking loose from her attendants she rushed to an open window and leaped to the ground below. She was picked up in a senseless condition and upon examination it was found that one of her legs was broken and she was removed to the Receiving Hospital where she now occupies a cot.

For the past year Mrs. Weise has been engaged in a long and bitter law suit in the Superior Court of this county with her stepchildren over the possession of the property left by the late C. Weise, who died on his farm near Glen Ellen a little over a year ago. This is supposed to have affected the woman's mind.

It is said that she is hopelessly insane and when sufficiently recovered from her fall she will be removed from the Receiving hospital to the Napa Insane Asylum.

The Inheritance Tax.

The first estate involving the collateral inheritance tax, as created by the Legislature of 1893 in this county, came before the Probate Department in the Wm. H. Graves estate last Monday, and was taken under consideration by Judge Dougherty. The validity of the act is now pending before the Supreme Court on a case on appeal from the Superior Court of San Francisco.

This species of legislation is new in this State, but has obtained for some time in the Eastern States. The statute provides that any legatee or devisee, not being a brother, father, mother, wife or lineal descendant of the deceased testator shall pay a tax of five dollars on each one hundred dollars of such bequest, provided the estate is valued at more than five hundred dollars. The executor is authorized to retain the amount of the tax out of the legacy and pay over the same to the County Treasurer, and no decree of distribution can be rendered, nor can the executor be compelled to distribute any legacy until such taxes are paid.

The question before the Supreme Court is the constitutionality of this act. In the States of New York and Pennsylvania the courts have determined that the principle involved in such legislation is not repugnant to the provision of the Federal Constitution that all duties, excises or imports must be uniform, three courts holding that such a tax was not a taxation on property, but a license for the privilege of collateral succession under testament, or under devolution of intestacy.

If this act should be upheld the effect will be to bring a large revenue into the public funds of the State.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

High School Question.

It is said that the Pacific Improvement Company of El Verano has offered to donate the land and erect a High School building in that place on condition that the Trustees remove the school to that town. This make two propositions before that body having for their purpose the removal of the High School from its present quarters in the district school building in this place. The other proposition is to utilize the old college building in the southern suburbs of town, which aside from being considered unsafe is too isolated for school purposes. As the High School cannot remain where it is at present after the 1st of March, what are the people of Sonoma going to do in the premises. If El Verano can make a play for the High School what is the matter with the people of Sonoma holding their own in this High School business?
